12 About this report

Your answers stay private. This report is for self-discovery and entertainment. It is not a medical or psychological diagnosis.

CHAPTER 1

You are The Guide 🕯️

Understands people deeply. You read people well and care about doing what is right. Others come to you for quiet, wise advice.

1.5%

Only about 2 in 100 people share your type

Your type is one of 16. Each has its own strengths, blind spots and way of thinking — this report is about yours.

Your four sides

Quiet	Visionary	Heart	Planner
Energy	Mind	Decisions	Lifestyle

You in three words

Deep insight · Strong values · Thoughtful planning

At your best, you decide with deep insight into people and a clear sense of what is right.

Type frequency: estimates for U.S. adults from a national sample of 3,009 people (Myers et al., 1998). Our test uses its own 4 scales, so the figure is an estimate.

CHAPTER 2

Your 4 scales

Each scale has two sides. Nobody is 100% one side — your answers showed which side you lean toward. It is marked with ✓.

Energy — Where do you get your energy?

Social ✓ Quiet

You recharge in quiet. A calm morning, a book or one good friend gives you energy back.

Mind — What do you notice first?

Visionary ✓ Grounded

You notice ideas, meanings and possibilities. You like to ask “what if?”

Decisions — How do you decide?

Logic ✓ Heart

You decide with your heart. You think first about how a choice affects people.

Lifestyle — How do you like to live?

Planner ✓ Flexible

You like a plan, order and finished tasks. You feel best when things are settled.

CHAPTER 3

Your strengths

These are the things people value in you — often more than you realize.

Deep insight

You understand what people feel, often before they say it.

Strong values

You know what is right for you and you stay true to it.

Thoughtful planning

You plan carefully and follow through on what matters.

Your mind’s natural strengths

Based on how you take in information and how you like to live, your mind is naturally good at:

Big-picture thinking · Focus

Your brain-training plan builds on these strengths and trains the areas that get less practice.

CHAPTER 4

Your blind spots

Every strength has a flip side. Blind spots are not flaws — they are habits worth noticing.

Takes on other people’s worries

You carry other people’s worries as if they were yours.

> Try this: Ask “Is this mine to fix?” before you take it on.

Sets very high standards for yourself

Your standards for yourself are higher than for anyone else.

> Try this: Give yourself the kindness you give your friends.

What slips first for your type

For The Guide, what tends to slip first is quick recall on tired or busy days. Your brain-training plan in Chapter 10 starts exactly there.

CHAPTER 5

How you make decisions

Heart Planner

You decide with your heart and like to have things settled. You think about how a choice will affect the people you love, then you commit. Watch for: saying yes to keep the peace when you mean no.

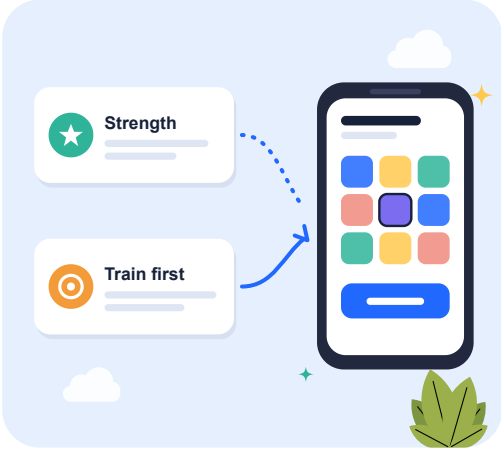

At your best, you decide with deep insight into people and a clear sense of what is right.

Three small habits for better decisions

1. Ask yourself: “Would I say yes if nobody would be disappointed?”
2. It is fine to answer “Let me think about it” instead of yes on the spot.
3. Add one fact to every heart decision: cost, time or distance.

Why this matters for your mind

Deciding uses your working memory: holding several options in mind and comparing them. The Logic and Math games in your [Company] plan practice exactly that — in a few relaxed minutes a day.

CHAPTER 6

Relationships and communication

You are a gentle, loyal listener with a few deep friendships. People open up to you. Share your own feelings more often — the people close to you want to hear them.

With your family

You are the quiet heart of the family. You listen, you notice feelings and you care deeply, often without being asked.

With friends

You have a small circle of close friends who open up to you. Make sure you also let them take care of you.

With children and grandchildren

Your children and grandchildren love your patience. A quiet walk, a puzzle or a long talk with you can be the best part of their day.

> People come to you for wise advice; let them give some back.

Staying sharp for the people you love

Remembering names, following a fast family conversation, keeping up with your children's and grandchildren's news — these are the everyday moments your brain-training plan is built around.

CHAPTER 7

You at your best

Everyone has good days and hard days. Knowing your pattern helps you get back to your best faster.

At your best

Wise, gentle and deeply understanding. People leave a talk with you feeling seen.

Under stress

You may carry everyone's worries, go quiet and feel that nobody understands you.

What brings you back

Quiet time, writing your thoughts down, and one honest talk with someone close.

How to talk to you

Share this with the people close to you.

1. Talk one-on-one, in a calm place.
2. Be gentle with criticism — you take it to heart.
3. Ask what you think; you may not say it first.

CHAPTER 8

People, pastimes and questions

You may share your type with

Martin Luther King Jr.
civil rights leader

Mother Teresa
missionary and Nobel Peace Prize winner

Nelson Mandela
president of South Africa

Based on public descriptions of these people, not official assessments.

Pastimes you may enjoy

- Writing, journaling or a memoir
- Reading and history
- Puzzles and strategy games
- Learning a language

Three questions for this week

1. What do I need this week — not others?
2. Where did I say yes but mean no?
3. Who made me smile, and have I told them?

CHAPTER 9

How your mind works

Your mind connects feelings, meaning and long-term goals. It works best when it is rested and clear — and needs sharp recall to keep up.

Your strength is meaning and insight. What slips first is quick recall when you are tired or busy.

Small slips with names and details are common at any age. Short daily practice keeps your mind in the habit of noticing.

Your mind in four areas

These are the four areas you can train in the [Company] app. Here is the order that fits your type.

🧠	Memorization	holding names, numbers and details in mind	Week 1 · train first
➗	Math	quick mental math and holding several numbers at once	Week 2 · train next
🧩	Logic	seeing patterns and finding a new order of steps	Week 3 · new areas
🎯	Focus	staying with one task and noticing what changed	Week 3 · new areas

Personality describes habits of thinking, not your memory or health. Brain games are practice, not treatment. If you are worried about your memory, talk to your doctor.

CHAPTER 10

Your brain-training plan

4 weeks · 10 minutes a day · 2 games a day, about 5 minutes each. Each week focuses on one area of your mind, in the order that fits The Guide.

WEEK 1 🧠 Memorization

Big-picture minds race ahead and let small details slip. Short memory games keep names, dates and lists close at hand.

Pair Tiles — Remember where the pairs of pictures are, then find them on a closed board.

> Why it's for you: Pictures stick best for a mind that thinks in people and moments — like putting a name to a face.

Memo — Memorize the positions of the cards, then find them all. (Focus game)

> Why it's for you: A gentle start: you remember where things are, like keys or glasses.

This week helps you: Remember names and details without the awkward pause.
You'll know it's working when your Memorization number on the Progress tab is higher than on day 1, and you can recall the names of three new people you met this week.

WEEK 2 ➗ Math

Planners think best on a set path. Quick mental math trains speed and working memory, so the mind adapts fast when plans change.

Comparison — Choose which side is bigger, quickly.

> Why it's for you: Quick, friendly rounds — trust your first sense of the numbers.

Fast Math — Solve quick sums before the time runs out.

> Why it's for you: Short rounds of everyday sums — like checking the change.

This week helps you: Think quickly — check a bill or count change in your head.
You'll know it's working when your Math number on the Progress tab is higher than on day 1, and you check a restaurant bill or the change at the store in your head.

WEEK 3 🧩 Logic + 🎯 Focus

This week brings in the two areas you haven't trained yet. Play one game from each, every day.

Water Sort — Logic: Pour colored water between glasses until each glass holds one color.

> Why it's for you: Calm, step by step and no rush — you plan the order, then watch it work.

Memo — Focus: Memorize the positions of the cards, then find them all.

> Why it's for you: It trains you to notice where things are, not only what they mean.

This week helps you: Solve everyday problems and adjust calmly when plans or routines change. Keep track of your keys and glasses, and follow a conversation without losing the thread.

WEEK 4 All four together

New games from all four areas. Play 2 of these each day, changing the mix, and see which area grew the most since day 1.

Single Line	Logic: Fill the whole shape with one continuous line.
Memo	Focus: Memorize the positions of the cards, then find them all.
Fast Math	Math: Solve quick sums before the time runs out.
Numbers	Focus: Find the numbers in order as fast as you can.

Your 28-day check-in

Tick a circle each day you play. Aim for at least 5 days a week — that is how a habit forms.

	Mon	Tue	Wed	Thu	Fri	Sat	Sun
Week 1	○	○	○	○	○	○	○
Week 2	○	○	○	○	○	○	○
Week 3	○	○	○	○	○	○	○
Week 4	○	○	○	○	○	○	○

CHAPTER 12

About this report

Entertainment, not diagnosis

This personality test is for self-discovery and entertainment. It is not a medical or psychological diagnosis and is not a substitute for professional evaluation.

How we built your type

You rated 24 statements, six for each of four scales: Energy, Mind, Decisions and Lifestyle. Each scale shows which side you lean toward. Your four sides together give one of 16 types. Our scales and type names are our own.

About the rarity figure

How common each type is comes from estimates for U.S. adults in a national sample of 3,009 people (Myers et al., 1998). Because our test uses its own scales, the figure is an estimate.

About brain games

[Company] games are everyday mental practice. They are not a medical treatment. If you notice changes in your memory that worry you, please talk to your doctor.
