You in three words

Quick wit · Creative problem solving · Bold thinking

At your best, you spot a better option others missed and switch to it fast.

Your 4 scales

Each scale has two sides. Nobody is 100% one side — your answers showed which side you lean toward. It is marked with ✓.

Energy — Where do you get your energy?

Social ✓ Quiet

You recharge around people. Conversation, visits and shared plans give you energy.

Mind — What do you notice first?

Visionary ✓ Grounded

Decisions — How do you decide?

Logic ✓ Heart

You decide with your head. You weigh facts and fairness first.

Lifestyle — How do you like to live?

Planner ✓ Flexible

CHAPTER 3

Your strengths

These are the things people value in you — often more than you realize.

Quick wit

You think fast and always have a reply.

Creative problem solving

You find unusual solutions to everyday problems.

Bold thinking

You are not afraid of a new idea or a new challenge.

Your mind’s natural strengths

Based on how you take in information and how you like to live, your mind is naturally good at:

Big-picture thinking · Flexibility

Your brain-training plan builds on these strengths and trains the areas that get less practice.

CHAPTER 4

Your blind spots

Every strength has a flip side. Blind spots are not flaws — they are habits worth noticing.

🔍 Gets bored with routine and loses focus

Routine bores you, and that is when focus slips.

> Try this: Turn routine into a game: a timer, a score, a small bet with yourself.

🌱 Can argue for fun and hurt feelings

A friendly argument can hurt more than you meant.

> Try this: Ask "Do you want my opinion or just an ear?" before you debate.

What slips first for your type

For The Innovator, what tends to slip first is focus on slow or repeated tasks. Your brain-training plan in Chapter 10 starts exactly there.

CHAPTER 5

How you make decisions

Logic Flexible

You weigh the facts but keep your options open until the last moment. You are good at changing course when new information appears. Watch for: putting off a choice that is already clear.

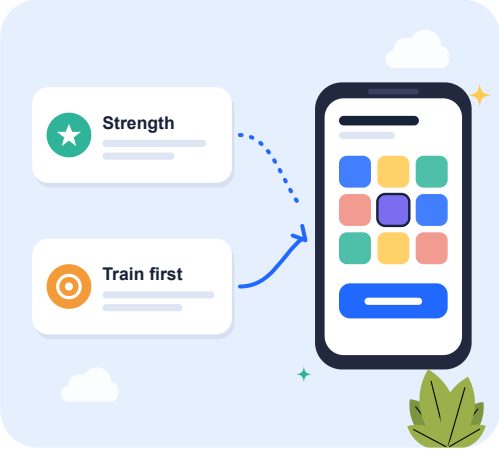

At your best, you spot a better option others missed and switch to it fast.

Three small habits for better decisions

1. Set yourself a “decide by” day for choices that keep waiting.
2. Write the two best options on paper — seeing them helps you commit.
3. Tell people when you have decided, so they are not left guessing.

Why this matters for your mind

Deciding uses your working memory: holding several options in mind and comparing them. The Logic and Math games in your [Company] plan practice exactly that — in a few relaxed minutes a day.

CHAPTER 6

Relationships and communication

You are lively and direct. People always know where they stand with you, and you enjoy a good debate. Your loved ones may sometimes need more warmth than facts.

With your family

In the family you are often the one who speaks up, organizes and says what needs to be said. Your honesty is a gift; a softer start makes it easier to hear.

With friends

Friends enjoy your energy and your opinions. You keep conversations lively and you are the first to suggest a plan.

With children and grandchildren

With your children and grandchildren you are the one with a plan or a challenge ready: a game, a question, a trip. Let them win an argument now and then — they will remember it.

People enjoy your wit; a little gentleness makes it even better.

Staying sharp for the people you love

Remembering names, following a fast family conversation, keeping up with your children's and grandchildren's news — these are the everyday moments your brain-training plan is built around.

CHAPTER 7

You at your best

Everyone has good days and hard days. Knowing your pattern helps you get back to your best faster.

At your best

Quick, witty and full of ideas. You make any problem feel like a game.

Under stress

You may start too many things, argue for fun and leave tasks half done.

What brings you back

Talk it through with a friend, then pick just one thing to finish today.

How to talk to you

Share this with the people close to you.

1. Get to the point — you like a straight answer.
2. Disagree openly; you enjoy a good debate.
3. Invite you to plan or lead something together.

CHAPTER 8

People, pastimes and questions

You may share your type with

Mark Twain
writer, Tom Sawyer

Thomas Edison
inventor of the light bulb

Celine Dion
singer

Based on public descriptions of these people, not official assessments.

Pastimes you may enjoy

- Book or discussion club
- Travel to new places
- Teaching or mentoring
- Trying a new class

Three questions for this week

1. Which idea am I ready to finish?
2. What decision have I been putting off?
3. Who would enjoy hearing my latest idea?

CHAPTER 9

How your mind works

Your mind loves novelty and speed. Without a challenge it gets restless — and focus is the first thing to slip.

Your strength is novelty and speed. What slips first is focus on slow, repeated tasks.

Small slips with names and details are common at any age. Short daily practice keeps your mind in the habit of noticing.

Your mind in four areas

These are the four areas you can train in the [Company] app. Here is the order that fits your type.

🧠	Memorization	holding names, numbers and details in mind	Week 1 · train first
🎯	Focus	staying with one task and noticing what changed	Week 2 · train next
🧩	Logic	seeing patterns and finding a new order of steps	Week 3 · new areas
➗	Math	quick mental math and holding several numbers at once	Week 3 · new areas

Personality describes habits of thinking, not your memory or health. Brain games are practice, not treatment. If you are worried about your memory, talk to your doctor.

CHAPTER 10

Your brain-training plan

4 weeks · 10 minutes a day · 2 games a day, about 5 minutes each. Each week focuses on one area of your mind, in the order that fits The Innovator.

WEEK 1 🧠 Memorization

Big-picture minds race ahead and let small details slip. Short memory games keep names, dates and lists close at hand.

Code

Remember a short code and repeat it back.

> Why it's for you: Short sequences, like a PIN or a phone number — precise and measurable.

Pair Tiles

Remember where the pairs of pictures are, then find them on a closed board.

> Why it's for you: It turns memory into a clear score: pairs found and accuracy.

This week helps you: Remember names and details without the awkward pause.
You'll know it's working when your Memorization number on the Progress tab is higher than on day 1, and you can recall the names of three new people you met this week.

WEEK 2 🎯 Focus

Flexible minds jump between ideas. Attention games help you stay with one task until it is done.

Memo

Memorize the positions of the cards, then find them all.

> Why it's for you: It trains you to notice where things are, not only what they mean.

Numbers

Find the numbers in order as fast as you can.

> Why it's for you: Keeps a wandering mind on one simple goal: the next number.

This week helps you: Keep track of your keys and glasses, and follow a conversation without losing the thread.
You'll know it's working when your Focus number on the Progress tab is higher than on day 1, and you finish a chapter, a recipe or a TV episode without starting over.

WEEK 3 🧩 Logic + ➗ Math

This week brings in the two areas you haven't trained yet. Play one game from each, every day.

Single Line — Logic: Fill the whole shape with one continuous line.

> Why it's for you: Short, visual puzzles that reward a fresh look rather than a fixed method.

Fast Math — Math: Solve quick sums before the time runs out.

> Why it's for you: Clear right-or-wrong answers and a score you can beat tomorrow.

This week helps you: Solve everyday problems and adjust calmly when plans or routines change. Think quickly — check a bill or count change in your head.

WEEK 4 All four together

New games from all four areas. Play 2 of these each day, changing the mix, and see which area grew the most since day 1.

Dots	Logic: Connect dots of the same color without crossing the lines.
Pair Tiles	Memorization: Remember where the pairs of pictures are, then find them on a closed board.
Cross Math	Math: Fill in the missing numbers so every line of the crossword adds up.
Numbers	Focus: Find the numbers in order as fast as you can.

Your 28-day check-in

Tick a circle each day you play. Aim for at least 5 days a week — that is how a habit forms.

	Mon	Tue	Wed	Thu	Fri	Sat	Sun
Week 1	○	○	○	○	○	○	○
Week 2	○	○	○	○	○	○	○
Week 3	○	○	○	○	○	○	○
Week 4	○	○	○	○	○	○	○
