CHAPTER 1

You are The Organizer 📋

Makes things run smoothly. You like order, clear rules and getting results. You are the one who gets the family trip or the club meeting organized.

8.7%

About 9 in 100 people share your type

Your type is one of 16. Each has its own strengths, blind spots and way of thinking — this report is about yours.

Your four sides

Social	Grounded	Logic	Planner
Energy	Mind	Decisions	Lifestyle

You in three words

Practical sense · Getting things done · Clear communication

At your best, you decide fast, fairly and with a clear plan.

Type frequency: estimates for U.S. adults from a national sample of 3,009 people (Myers et al., 1998). Our test uses its own 4 scales, so the figure is an estimate.

CHAPTER 2

Your 4 scales

Each scale has two sides. Nobody is 100% one side — your answers showed which side you lean toward. It is marked with ✓.

Energy — Where do you get your energy?

Social ✓ Quiet

You recharge around people. Conversation, visits and shared plans give you energy.

Mind — What do you notice first?

Visionary ✓ Grounded

You trust facts, experience and practical details. You notice what others miss.

Decisions — How do you decide?

Logic ✓ Heart

You decide with your head. You weigh facts and fairness first.

Lifestyle — How do you like to live?

Planner ✓ Flexible

You like a plan, order and finished tasks. You feel best when things are settled.

CHAPTER 3

Your strengths

These are the things people value in you — often more than you realize.

💛 Practical sense

You see what needs doing and how to do it.

⭐ Getting things done

You get results — on time and done right.

🌿 Clear communication

People always know what you mean.

Your mind’s natural strengths

Based on how you take in information and how you like to live, your mind is naturally good at:

Memory for details · Focus

Your brain-training plan builds on these strengths and trains the areas that get less practice.

CHAPTER 4

Your blind spots

Every strength has a flip side. Blind spots are not flaws — they are habits worth noticing.

Can be impatient with slower people

Slower people can test your patience.

> Try this: Count to five before you step in.

Likes control and finds surprises stressful

Surprises and lost control feel stressful.

> Try this: Plan a little "open time" into your week for the unexpected.

What slips first for your type

For The Organizer, what tends to slip first is flexibility when the unexpected happens. Your brain-training plan in Chapter 10 starts exactly there.

CHAPTER 5

How you make decisions

Logic Planner

You decide with your head and like to settle things early. You weigh the facts, make a plan and stick to it. Watch for: deciding before you have heard everyone out.

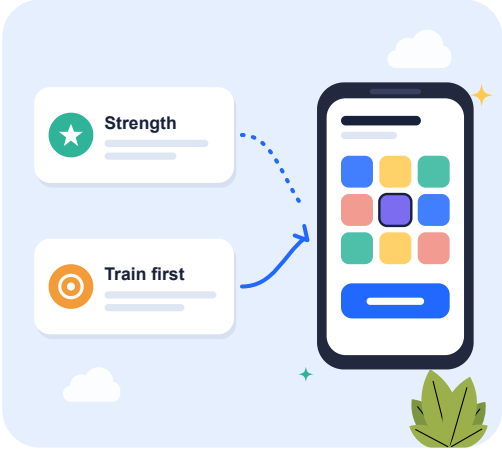

At your best, you decide fast, fairly and with a clear plan.

Three small habits for better decisions

1. Before you decide, ask one person “What am I missing?”
2. Give big choices one night of sleep, even when the answer seems clear.
3. When a plan has to change, list two new options before you pick one.

Why this matters for your mind

Deciding uses your working memory: holding several options in mind and comparing them. The Logic and Math games in your [Company] plan practice exactly that — in a few relaxed minutes a day.

CHAPTER 6

Relationships and communication

You are lively and direct. People always know where they stand with you, and you enjoy a good debate. Your loved ones may sometimes need more warmth than facts.

With your family

In the family you are often the one who speaks up, organizes and says what needs to be said. Your honesty is a gift; a softer start makes it easier to hear.

With friends

Friends enjoy your energy and your opinions. You keep conversations lively and you are the first to suggest a plan.

With children and grandchildren

With your children and grandchildren you are the one with a plan or a challenge ready: a game, a question, a trip. Let them win an argument now and then — they will remember it.

You keep things running; a softer tone helps people follow you.

Staying sharp for the people you love

Remembering names, following a fast family conversation, keeping up with your children's and grandchildren's news — these are the everyday moments your brain-training plan is built around.

CHAPTER 7

You at your best

Everyone has good days and hard days. Knowing your pattern helps you get back to your best faster.

At your best

Practical, fair and in charge. You turn plans into results.

Under stress

You may get bossy, impatient and frustrated when others don't follow the plan.

What brings you back

Getting one thing in order, then time with people who make you laugh.

How to talk to you

Share this with the people close to you.

1. Get to the point — you like a straight answer.
2. Disagree openly; you enjoy a good debate.
3. Invite you to plan or lead something together.

CHAPTER 8

People, pastimes and questions

You may share your type with

Henry Ford
founder of Ford Motor Company

Judge Judy Sheindlin
judge and TV host

Martha Stewart
home and cooking expert

Based on public descriptions of these people, not official assessments.

Pastimes you may enjoy

- Volunteering in your community
- Cooking for friends and family
- Group walks or dancing
- Card and board game nights

Three questions for this week

1. What is one plan I could loosen this week?
2. Whose opinion have I not asked for yet?
3. What did I do well that I did not notice?

CHAPTER 9

How your mind works

Your mind is quick with facts and plans. When the unexpected happens, a flexible mind helps you adjust without stress.

Your strength is a quick head for facts and plans. What slips first is flexibility when something unexpected happens.

Small slips with names and details are common at any age. Short daily practice keeps your mind in the habit of noticing.

Your mind in four areas

These are the four areas you can train in the [Company] app. Here is the order that fits your type.

🧩	Logic	seeing patterns and finding a new order of steps	Week 1 · train first
➗	Math	quick mental math and holding several numbers at once	Week 2 · train next
🧠	Memorization	holding names, numbers and details in mind	Week 3 · new areas
🎯	Focus	staying with one task and noticing what changed	Week 3 · new areas

Personality describes habits of thinking, not your memory or health. Brain games are practice, not treatment. If you are worried about your memory, talk to your doctor.

CHAPTER 10

Your brain-training plan

4 weeks · 10 minutes a day · 2 games a day, about 5 minutes each. Each week focuses on one area of your mind, in the order that fits The Organizer.

WEEK 1 🧩 Logic

Detail-minded people rely on proven routines. Logic puzzles train the mind to find new patterns when routines change.

Water Sort — Pour colored water between glasses until each glass holds one color.

> Why it's for you: Calm, step by step and no rush — you plan the order, then watch it work.

Single Line — Fill the whole shape with one continuous line.

> Why it's for you: A small puzzle you can finish in seconds — an easy first win of the day.

This week helps you: Solve everyday problems and adjust calmly when plans or routines change.
You'll know it's working when your Logic number on the Progress tab is higher than on day 1, and when a plan changes, you find a plan B in a few minutes, without stress.

WEEK 2 ➗ Math

Planners think best on a set path. Quick mental math trains speed and working memory, so the mind adapts fast when plans change.

Fast Math — Solve quick sums before the time runs out.

> Why it's for you: Clear right-or-wrong answers and a score you can beat tomorrow.

Cross Math — Fill in the missing numbers so every line of the crossword adds up.

> Why it's for you: A crossword made of numbers — logic and arithmetic together.

This week helps you: Think quickly — check a bill or count change in your head.
You'll know it's working when your Math number on the Progress tab is higher than on day 1, and you check a restaurant bill or the change at the store in your head.

WEEK 3 🧠 Memorization + 🎯 Focus

This week brings in the two areas you haven't trained yet. Play one game from each, every day.

Code — Memorization: Remember a short code and repeat it back.

> Why it's for you: Short sequences, like a PIN or a phone number — precise and measurable.

Fruit Sort — Focus: Sort the fruits so each basket holds one kind.

> Why it's for you: A tidy, practical task — focus without pressure.

This week helps you: Remember names and details without the awkward pause. Keep track of your keys and glasses, and follow a conversation without losing the thread.

WEEK 4 All four together

New games from all four areas. Play 2 of these each day, changing the mix, and see which area grew the most since day 1.

Single Line — Logic: Fill the whole shape with one continuous line.

Pair Tiles — Memorization: Remember where the pairs of pictures are, then find them on a closed board.

Cross Math — Math: Fill in the missing numbers so every line of the crossword adds up.

Missing items — Focus: Look at a set of items, then spot what has gone missing.

Your 28-day check-in

Tick a circle each day you play. Aim for at least 5 days a week — that is how a habit forms.

	Mon	Tue	Wed	Thu	Fri	Sat	Sun
Week 1	○	○	○	○	○	○	○
Week 2	○	○	○	○	○	○	○
Week 3	○	○	○	○	○	○	○
Week 4	○	○	○	○	○	○	○

CHAPTER 12

About this report

Entertainment, not diagnosis

This personality test is for self-discovery and entertainment. It is not a medical or psychological diagnosis and is not a substitute for professional evaluation.

How we built your type

You rated 24 statements, six for each of four scales: Energy, Mind, Decisions and Lifestyle. Each scale shows which side you lean toward. Your four sides together give one of 16 types. Our scales and type names are our own.

About the rarity figure

How common each type is comes from estimates for U.S. adults in a national sample of 3,009 people (Myers et al., 1998). Because our test uses its own scales, the figure is an estimate.

About brain games

[Company] games are everyday mental practice. They are not a medical treatment and do not diagnose, treat or prevent any condition. If you notice changes in your memory that worry you, please talk to your doctor.
